OPEX MENA Virtual 2021 HIGHLIGHTS

OPEX MENA attracted an audience of 88% end-users, making this Operational Excellence forum stand out from similar events. The high number of regional end-users in attendance (oil, gas, and petrochemicals producers) clearly demonstrates how important it is to their organisations to have access to learnings regarding current approaches to Operational Excellence.

Almost every end-user either has an OE programme well underway or is at an early stage of implementation. Organisations have a strong appetite for gaining access to live thought leadership in this field and to hearing how others have been successful and equally, what challenges they have faced, via case studies and interactive panel discussions.

In 2021, we took a close look at safety leadership and management culture, as well as the very latest strategies, systems, tools and innovations that are available to support organisations on their OE journey.

Hosted virtually, the three-day conference welcomed the largest audience yet - over 400 registered delegates representing a wide spectrum of Oil & Gas & Manufacturing companies including::
